INTERIOR DESIGN TIMELINE

Stone Age 4000 - 2000BC

The first evidence of interior design was found in prehistoric human dwellings. Although they lacked any practicalities they still took the time to decorate their dwellings with paintings, carvings, and other objects. These objects were made from stone, wood, and bone.

Neolithic Europe 2000 - 1700BC

Handmade pottery for practical and decorative use, some of which were decorated with paint.

Roman 100BC - 400AD

This was the first time when people began to use their dwellings for more than just shelter. They decorated with murals and mosaics, as well as furniture. Typical Roman furniture had carved feet and soft furnishings.

Dark Ages 500 - 1000AD

During the dark ages there was a decline of interior design, which meant that homes were often in bad repair. However, interior furniture and stone slab floors were still used.

Renaissance 1400 - 1600AD

During the Renaissance the family was the central focus of design. Grand paintings and furniture, often with a lot of colour and expensive fabrics such as velvet, were used to decorate homes to make them beautiful spaces.

From 1600 - 1700AD Neoclassicism emerged as the dominant style in the Western world.

During the 17th and 18th centuries there was a focus on symmetry and order. Homes were often decorated with large, ornate furniture and wall paintings. People were often interested in the past and sought to recreate it in their homes.

The first use of artificial light was in the 17th century, when the first gas lamps were invented.

Traditional 1700AD - Now

The traditional European and American design was very popular from 1700 to 1800AD, although it is still popular in some parts of the world. It was characterised by a very formal look.

Industrial Revolution 1760 - 1820AD

During the Industrial Revolution interior design was inspired by a wider audience and was more accessible to the general population. This is because the factory system of the past became more affordable and people were able to buy more products. Working-class homes and design.

Tropical 1800s - Now

As the British empire grew, the influence of tropical countries such as India and the West Indies on interior design grew. This led to a new style of interior design, which was more relaxed and more comfortable. This style was traditional but with the addition of the tropics.

Victorian 1837 - 1901AD

Ornaments were the focal point of a room with all surfaces being well decorated. The colour choice of walls followed a strict code depending on room type and always used colours which were placed beside or nearby together in the colour wheel. Crystal Palace was built and the first electric light was invented.

Arts & Crafts 1860 - 1910AD

As a movement to oppose industrialisation, people turned to traditional crafts to produce items of furniture and decoration.

In 1851 the London Exposition of the Great Exhibition of 1851 was held at Crystal Palace.

Asian 1900s - Now

Known for its ornate look, the Asian style featured the use of natural materials and furniture such as silk, bamboo and lacquer. While the Chinese were more into design and colour, the Japanese were more into form and function.

Colonial Revival 1905 - Now

In the USA they took inspiration from historical styles of the Neoclassical and Georgian eras. Inspired by the Colonial Revival which emerged from interest in the American past, people began to look at the architecture which allowed people to still have a sense of style with great ease. It was by the most popular style of the time in the USA, especially through the pages of Good Housekeeping.

Egyptian 2700 - 300BC

While the culture of Egypt did not have the most famous look in the world, the buildings they are still known for. These buildings were decorated with murals which depicted their history and beliefs. They had built furniture as well as stone and wood to use in their homes.

Greek 700 - 318BC

The improvements in education allowed for people to learn to decorate their homes in their own style, the result of which had furniture, including stone and wood. The Greeks also brought to the world the concept of buildings which could be used for many different purposes.

Byzantine 330 - 1453AD

During the Byzantine era grand domes and extravagant decorations became the norm.

Gothic 1140 - 1400AD

Following the dark ages decorative ornaments and colours were brought into homes again. The Gothic era is characterised by its tall, narrow windows and its use of bringing the light of open floor plans and an emphasis on windows to increase light.

Baroque 1600 - 1750AD

Baroque, grandeur and white, ivory and the focus of the era. The use of natural glass, columns with motifs, marble with colour, mirrors, chandeliers and painted ceilings were all used to create a sense of awe.

Rococo Style 1700AD

A very elegant style, Rococo design was very popular and the use of different materials such as marble, shell and pearls in furniture. They also included Rococo gardens in their home design.

Neoclassical Style 1780 - 1840AD

Inspiration was from the ancient cultures of Greece and Rome. This could be seen in the architecture of the time but also in the furniture which heavily used motifs such as laurel and olive branches, as well as shells.

Aesthetic Movement 1860s

The movement was born as a way for artists to show their preference for natural design. The focus was the alternative to the ornate, decorative style of the Victorian era. The style was more about the beauty of the natural world.

Tuscan 1840s - Now

Inspired by the calm and beauty of Tuscany in Italy, the focus was on the use of natural materials and a sense of the beauty of the landscape.

Rustic 1870s - Now

Handcrafted furniture and large open rooms were the focus of this style. Rustic homes and colonies originally offered rooms to the open and airy and were still sought after homes today.

Art Nouveau 1890 - 1910AD

Art Nouveau was a style of interior design that was inspired by the natural world. It was a style that was very popular in the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

Eclectic 1900s - Now

The eclectic style was a mix of different styles, often with a focus on the natural world. It was a style that was very popular in the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

Modern 1918 - 1950

The modern style was a style of interior design that was inspired by the natural world. It was a style that was very popular in the late 19th and early 20th centuries.
